PEACOCKS

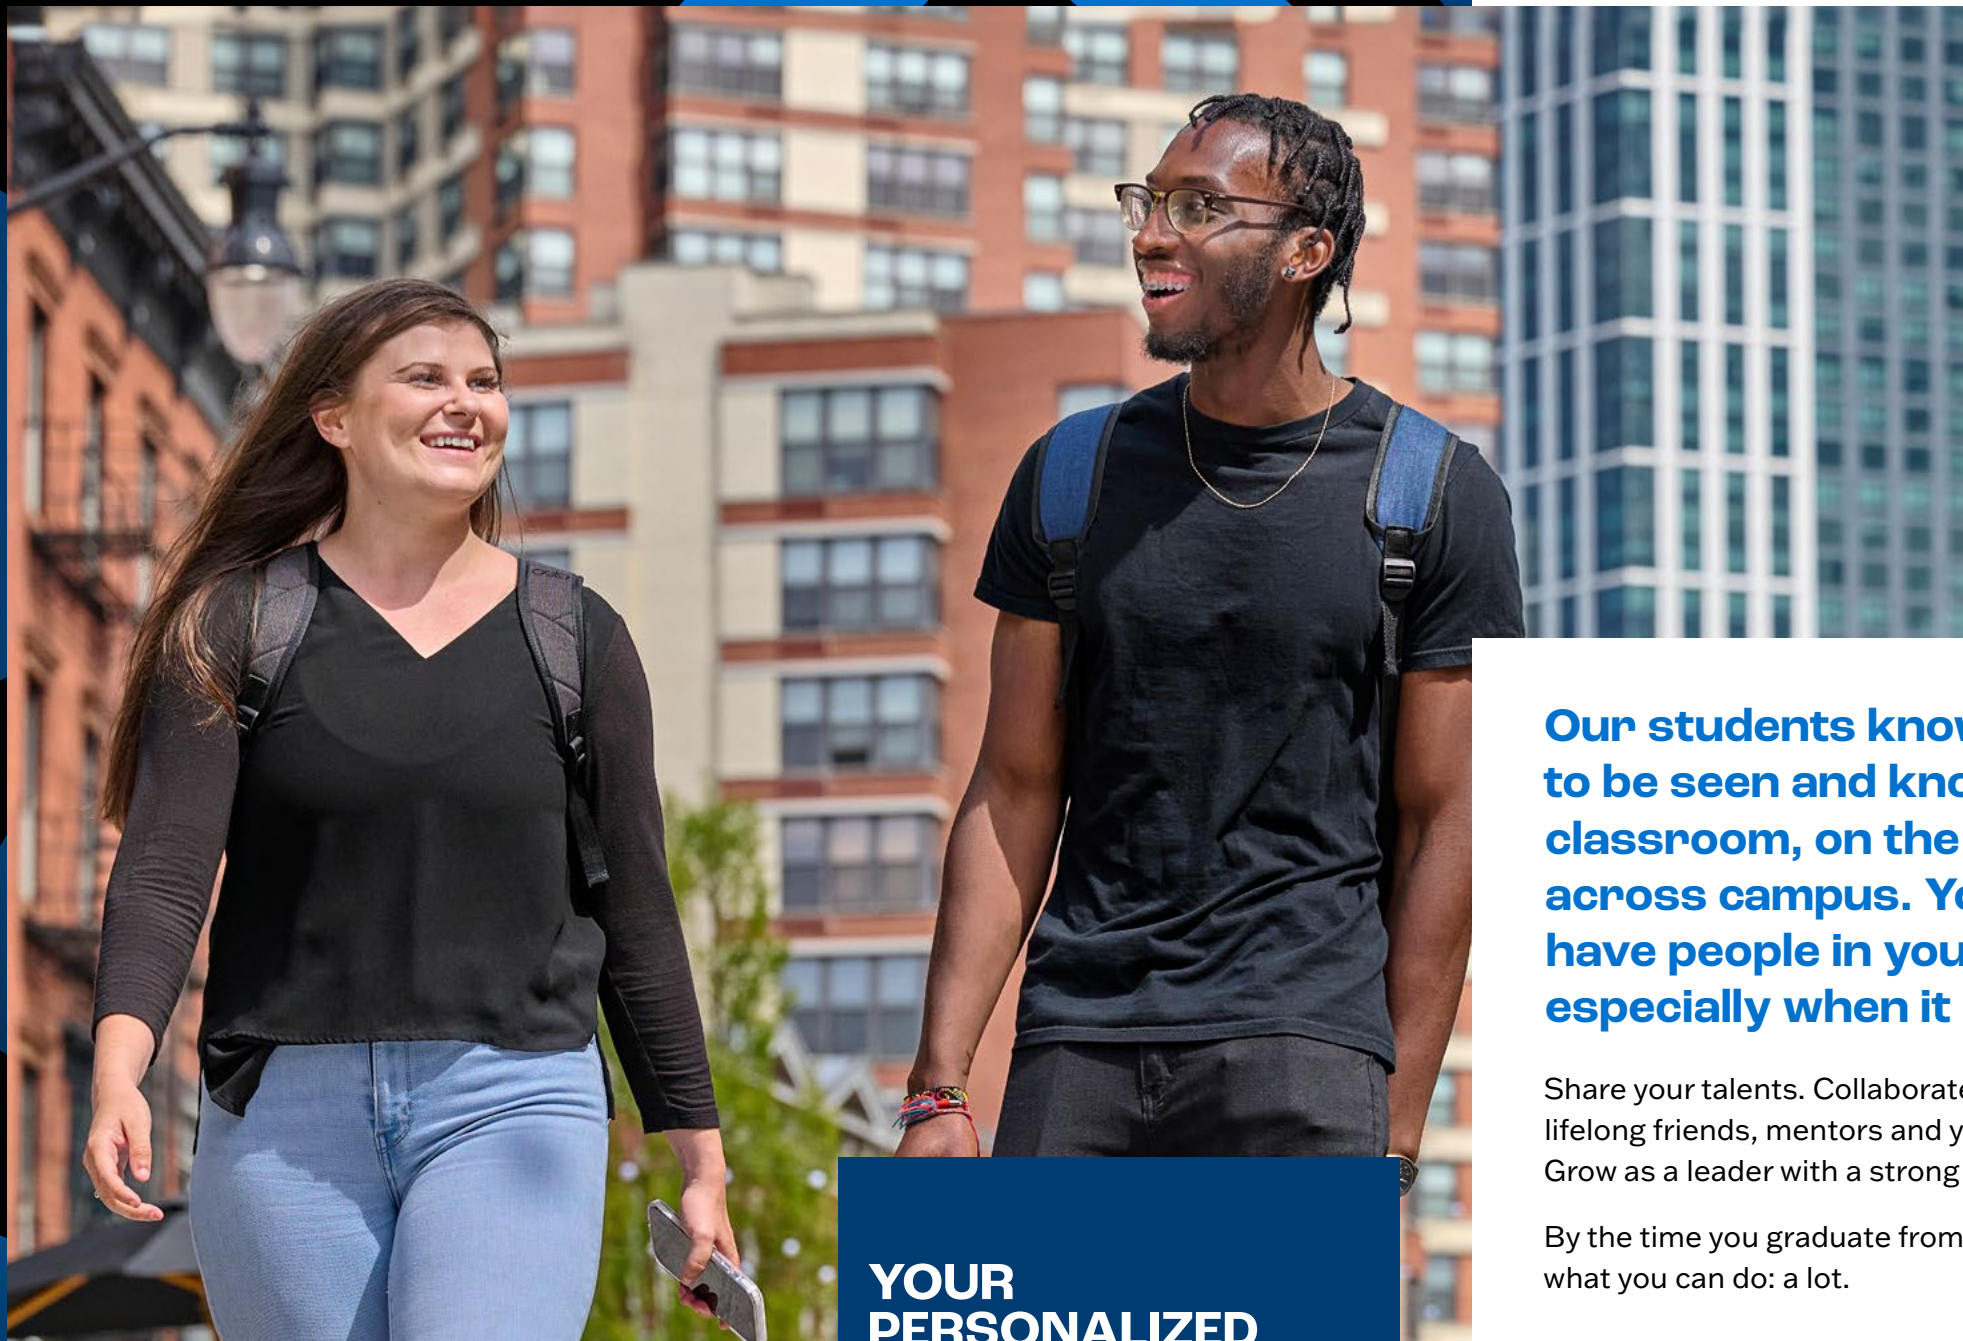

A young man and woman are smiling and looking towards the right. They are standing on a wooden pier with a metal railing. In the background, the New York City skyline is visible across a body of water, featuring several skyscrapers, including the Freedom Tower. The sky is blue with scattered white clouds.

When Peacocks fly, they lift up everybody.

At Saint Peter's University, we call ourselves the Peacocks. But it's much more than our athletic teams' name or a character on our t-shirts.

Peacocks come here with big hearts and big dreams. They never forget their roots. They don't take anything for granted. They graduate ready to give back to the world in a big way: as role models for their families, their communities and their professions. That's our kind of Peacock. Are you in?

JERSEY CITY PRIDE

Welcome to one of the world's most amazing cities: Jersey City.

You thought we were going to say New York? Sure, we love the Big Apple. But Jersey City is the most diverse city in the nation, a sought-after place to live, a growing arts destination, a new outpost for Hollywood film and TV production, and a financial center in its own right. And the food scene is off the charts: You can get anything from dosas to kare-kare, to bhortas, to barbecue.

We're proud to have made Jersey City home for more than 150 years. And you can help make it an even better place to live by joining our community service, advocacy and social justice projects—ensuring that Jersey City's bright future will be shared by everyone.

The suite life

Juniors and seniors can move into Panepinto Hall, our newest residence hall. The apartment-styled suites have private bathrooms and kitchenettes and are modeled on the transformed loft spaces that have become a Jersey City hallmark.
